Don't miss one of Clark County's Favorite Fall Activities: Pumpkin Lane at Pomeroy Farm!

Pomeroy Living History Farm kicks off the 2017 Pumpkin Season with the opening of Pumpkin Lane on October 7th. Open every full weekend in October, this year's hours will be Saturdays 10am-4pm and Sundays 11am-4pm. Admission is $6 for adults, and $4 for children ages 3-11; kids 2 and under are free.

Admission to Pumpkin Lane provides your family with a day's worth of fun and activities. This includes our featured activity: the enchanting mile long hayride around Pumpkin Lane, featuring over 100 pumpkin people set in various scenes and vignettes. Also included in admission is a hay bale maze for children, pumpkin flume game, yard games, farm animals, several fun photo opportunities and more! Our historic log house will also be open for tours during Pumpkin Lane.

The trip around Pumpkin Lane will make a stop at our pumpkin patch where you and your family can pick out the perfect pumpkin! Pumpkins are an additional fee, with prices starting at just $1.50.

New this year will be our food vendors! We will have different vendors throughout the month offering a variety of festive snacks and yummy goodies to our guests.

Proceeds benefit the educational programs hosted by the Pomeroy Living History Farm. The Farm is a non-profit living history museum interpreting pre-electric life in the Lucia Valley of Southwest Washington.

The Farm is located at 20902 NE Lucia Falls Rd, Yacolt, Washington. Please call (360) 686-3537 or visit www.pomeroyfarm.org for directions or further information.
